Bags

At the roots of the SAM, developed around the oxygen bottle which is the main element in need of protection, an intuitive feeling which is as simple as it is ambitious, has enabled us to realize a professional, technical bag that has a reduced volume and a contained cost. We have made the most of the rectangular design of the bag, unusually rich in openings on all sides, in order to respond to the functional and distributive needs, taking some of the compositional elements of the project as a sample of the new integrated system of assistance for the respiratory tracts. It is made with technologically innovative materials which guarantee durability, thanks to the intervention of a closed cell foam with an extraordinary elasticity, and an efficient protection of the contents. What is more, for any service, SAM can provide more than one solution, making it possible to substitute also the small parts of the operative system, therefore assisting a personalization of the contents.
